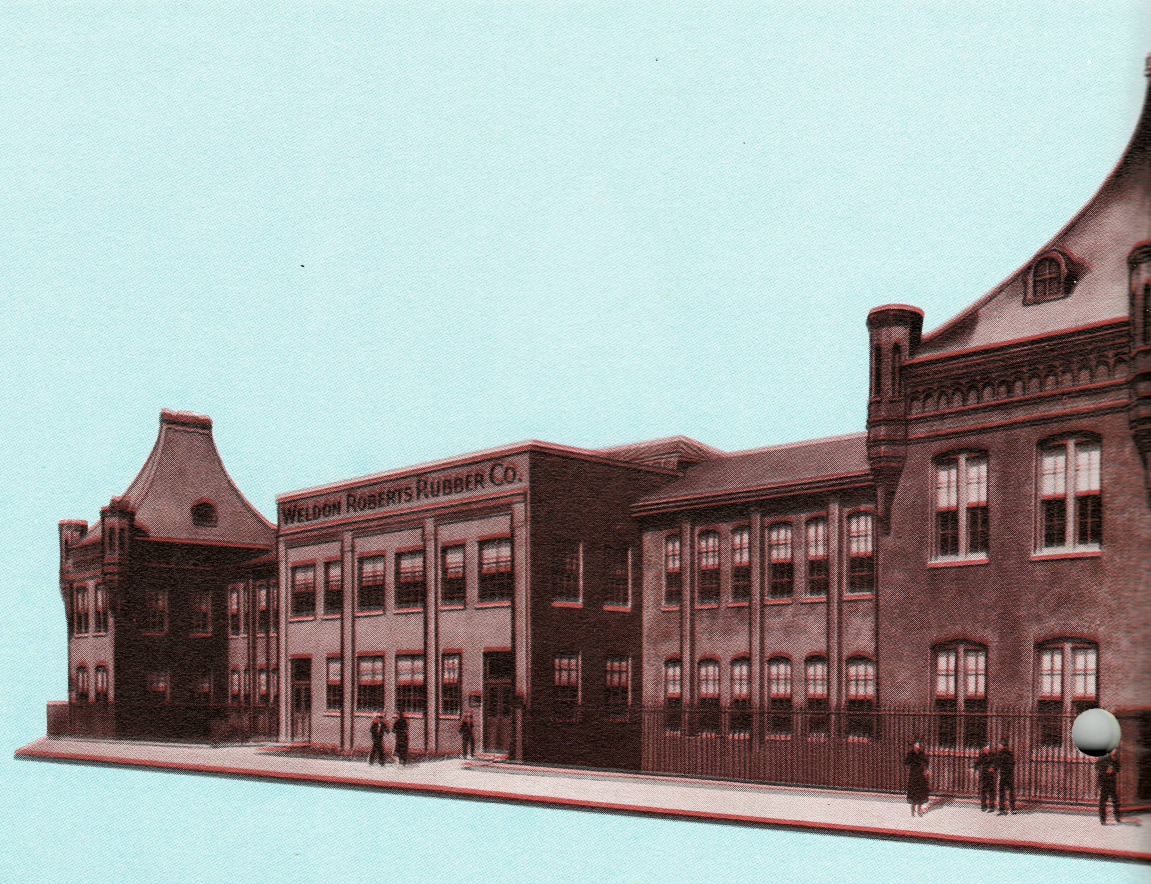
FOREWORD

The eraser is the companion tool of the pencil, the pen and the typewriter. The pencil is the first tool of the creative man; the eraser, the second. Ideas taking form in the mind must be transferred from mind to paper for review, correction, additions and more corrections. Pencil notes are to the writer as pencil guide lines are to the architect and draftsman; guide lines are needed to establish the finished work but must be erased; pencil notes are constantly made, erased, revised, erased, revised and some times erased for good.

An eraser is manufactured to wear out; it must give way, rather than the paper. As particles of dirt, graphite and ink are dislodged from the paper by the eraser compound and friction, they are absorbed by the eraser. In order to continue to erase cleanly the eraser must clean itself by crumbing. A good eraser must clean both the paper and itself.

Listed and described in this catalog are more than 100 types, sizes and assortments of Weldon Roberts Erasers. Their fine quality represents a progressive advance in eraser manufacture which embodies a practical analysis and application of the needs of all users, based on the experience and research of a family business now in its fourth generation and dating back more than 100 years.



HISTORY

Weldon Roberts Erasers are the specialized product of an industry founded over 100 years ago by the Roberts family.

When Christopher Roberts established his factory in Providence, Rhode Island about 1854 and brought out his efficient rubber product, erasing was still usually done with bread crumbs. Christopher Roberts marketed his goods through a pencil manufacturer with the result that his name was not shown on the merchandise. From the beginning his erasers were the leading line in the United States.

In 1912 when the Weldon Roberts Rubber Co. was incorporated in Newark, New Jersey, the name Roberts first appeared on rubber erasers. Weldon Roberts, who organized this concern, had been the active head of the former company since about 1888. He perfected modern color compounds for erasers and was the first in the country to make erasers in the popular reds and greens.

In its large, modernly-fitted plant, Weldon Roberts Rubber Co. utilizes a manufacturing experience of over 100 years in the making of fine quality erasers. Throughout the world today the name Weldon Roberts on a rubber eraser continues to be a guarantee of finest quality. From Helsingfors to Cape Town—from Tokyo to London, Weldon Roberts Erasers are accepted as the criterion.

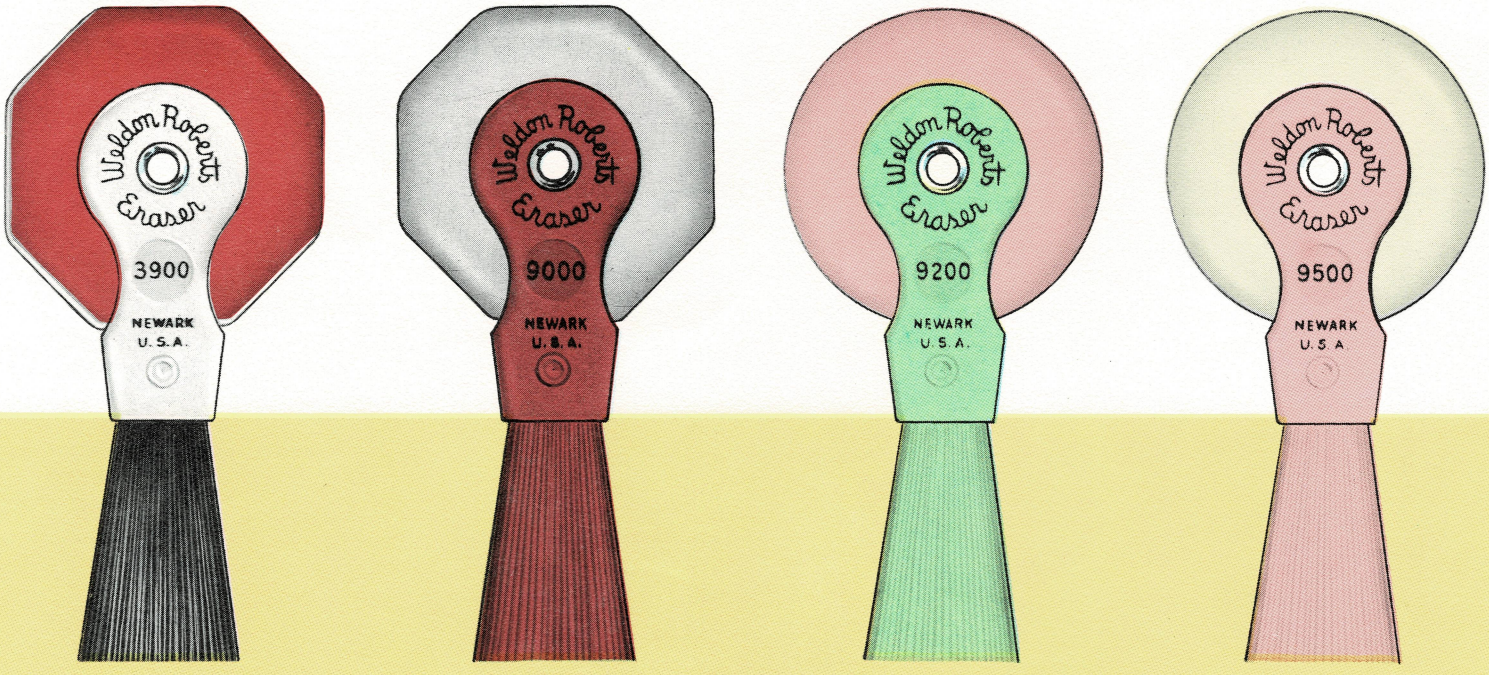
Weldon Roberts Erasers



Weldon Roberts Whisk Erasers illustrated above have the extra safety feature of one piece plastic whisk holders to protect the typist's hands from sharp edges and burrs often found on metal plates. The attractive colors of the whisk holders and brushes were selected by typists, stenographers and secretaries in a series of interviews and surveys.

3900—TRI-PLY WHISK

The original three layer eraser. The efficient, soft, gray inner ply erases single letters or whole lines on the original, while the red outer layers prevent smearing, and smooth the paper. For carbon ribbons, this combined action is essential to clean erasures.

Packing: Boxes of one dozen, in half gross shelf cartons.

Weight: 6 lbs. per gross.

9200—CORAL WHISK

The popular, pink, typewriter eraser is compounded particularly for unusually fast erasures. The soft compound of this eraser smooths the paper and absorbs surface marks, while the abrasive quickly removes the final traces. The attractive pink color never stains the paper.

Packing: Boxes of one dozen, in half gross shelf cartons.
Weight: 6 lbs. per gross.

9500—TAPER EDGE WHISK

This firm, gray, eraser with its smooth abrasive, has a thin edge which affords unusual control in erasing, and in picking out single letters.
